

INFORMATION STRATEGY GAME

The specialists in information management

Erik Hartman Communicatie is an independent consultancy in communication and information strategy. Our experts get more value out of information by translating business goals and the needs of the audiences into an information strategy for websites, intranets, and other online channels. We design information architectures and help select the proper information management tools. Our clients belong to the top 500 of organizations and government entities in the Netherlands and Belgium.

